

Roland Roth, or “Rosh” Roland, as the children call him, begins his second year as the Director of Youth Education and Programming at Temple Emanu-El of Palm Beach.

Roland grew up in a secular family and found his “return” to Judaism because of trips to Israel, Jewish summer camps, Hillel in college, and teaching Hebrew school. He has earned a Bachelor’s Degree in Child Development and a Masters Degree in Jewish Education. He studied at both the Jewish Theological Seminary’s Davidson Graduate School of Jewish Education and Gratz College in Philadelphia. He has run successful religious schools in Seattle, WA and Wilmington, DE.

Roland welcomes new and prospective families and encourages all to come check out the growing Rothman Religious School. With dedicated, passionate teachers, parent involvement and support, wonderful clergy and a great professional staff, this is a great time to bring your family to Temple Emanu-El!
